Subject: Summer School for EU Science teachers

Dear sir/madam,

from 21st to 25th August 2017 will take place in Italy MoM International Teachers Summer School, open to Science teachers from all over Europe.

The Summer School comes at the end of the Erasmus+ “Matters of Matter: Future Materials in Science Education, 2014-2017” project coordinated by IIS Cavazzi, Pavullo (IT) in partnership with Gymnasium Pappenburg (DE), St. Josephs Secondary School Drogheda (IR), Escola Secundaria /3 de Barcelinhos (P).

MoM focus on innovative materials and their application, aiming to exploit their huge didactical potential for the enhancement of Inquiry Based and Problem Based Science practice in schools. We are confident that the protocols and didactical materials presented in the Summer School will be of great interest to all Science teachers also offering hints for CLIL in action, while the international participation will favour networking and best practices exchange.

MoM summer school is open primarily to high and middle school in-service Physics, Chemistry, Biology, Technology teachers. Pre-service teachers and teacher trainers are welcome too.
The official language is English.

MoM Summer school is open to any interested one through individual application, however we want to remind you that the activity is also eligible for EU Erasmus+ KA1 grants (deadline for grants end of January 2017) and is already included in the course catalogue of the School Education Gateway <http://www.schooleducationgateway.eu/>

Pre-Registration to the summer school will close on January 31st, 2017 and will come on a first in-first served basis. A waiting list will be activated in case of a surplus of requests. Later requests will be taken into consideration only if free places are still available.
